December 4, 2022

Isn't it hard to believe that there are only twenty-seven days left in the year? Looking back, we have lost many of our saints who have gone on to their rewards. This would include Violet and Judy. And we have been blessed by seeing new faces in our assembly. Solomon wrote, "Better is the end of a thing than the beginning thereof: and the patient in spirit is better than the proud in spirit" (Eccl. 7:8).

In Deuteronomy 34, Moses is on a mountain looking at the land that the Israelites would possess. This was his last site that he gazed at as he took his last breath (Deut. 34:5). In some hidden grave, the Lord buried Moses (Deut. 34:6). Though he would never see another sunrise, he would not be forgotten in the analogues of history. The Spirit wrote, "And there arose not a prophet since in Israel like unto Moses, whom the LORD knew face to face" (Deut. 34:10).

From the death of Moses to the death of Jesus would be 1,986 years. Christ gazed at the descendants of those Israelites who were now being delivered from the bondage of sin. It wasn't just a new year dawning but the end of an age. The cross, along with the resurrection, became the most crucial and pivotal point of man's existence. Paul told the brethren at Galatia, "But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world" (Gal. 6:14).

So as the new year springs forth, we continue to find hope in a sea of lost sinners. We are mere wanderers looking forward to the homecoming. The song from Albert Brumley says it all, "This world is not my home. I'm just a passing thru, my treasures are laid up somewhere beyond the blue; the angels beckon me from heaven's open door. And I can't feel at home in this world anymore!"
